Salisbury Scriblings

Some of our people attended county court Monday.

Fifteen head of blocky mules were lined up on Broadway Thursday to have their photos taken by Miss Cassie Carlstead. Front and rear views were taken the latter at a safe distance from the heels of the "varmints".

Hoghead and hominy are in evidence here nowadays and no menu is considered complete without them. Look out for scrapple and head cheese.

There was a big crowd in town Saturday and Christmas "trix" sold like hot cakes. Santa is here with both feet.

All our Sunday schools are rapidly filling up as the holiday season approaches.

Mrs. Henrietta Fuller, wife of H. V. Fuller, died at the home of her husband Wednesday night last week, of a complication of diseases, superinduced by old age. She was a good woman of the pioneer type and spent her days in doing for others. She left a husband, one daughter and three sons, beside many relatives. Peace to her remains.

The remains of John Schnetzler were laid to rest in the Lutheran cemetery south of town, after appropriate funeral services. Deceased who died at his home a few miles north of town, Dec. 2 was for a long time a resident of this vicinity and was well known. He leaves a wife and several children in comfortable circumstances. We extend to the family our sympathy.

Mrs. Polly Williams an old lady who had been making her home with Mrs. W. C. Moredock in the west part of town passed away Sunday morning and remains sent to Brunswick on Monday for interment. Deceased was a pioneer woman and one whose whole life was filled with good deeds. Her passing caused deep regret, but her many ailments made death a relief to her.

J. W. Hawkins south of town sold a part of his good corn crop to J. C. Case for 65 cents per bushel.

On the sick list this week we report, Mrs. Prescott, Thos. Leslie, Mrs. F. G. Pile, M. C. Smith and G. P. McCurry.

Sam Edwards and family and m. Mosher left Tuesday for Hugo Colo. to make their future home. These are fine people and we regret their departure but wish them the greatest success.

The remains of Mrs. Corlette who died at her home in Chicago were laid to rest in our country here by the side of her former husband the late John S. Wack she having married the second time and her last husband also being dead. She was a good woman highly respected and had many friends. Her children attended the funeral coming a long distance for that purpose and have the sympathy of all.

E. J. Hayes and family have returned from their trip south content to remain in good old Mo.
